Suspicious Letters

The Port Angeles Police Department is investigating reports of suspicious, anonymous letters received in the mail. The letters have been addressed to specific people and have been sent to facilities with connections to health related fields. At this time nothing indicates the letters are dangerous. They are suspicious because of the language in the letters and the anonymous nature. There is not a specific identifiable threat and the police department is investigating in an abundance of caution.

If someone receives a letter that they believe may be related please discontinue handling the envelope and letter to preserve any physical evidence and contact the police department.
